A Simple Daisy Celebrates National Adoption
Awareness Month with their “Building Families”
T-Shirts for Friends & Family

November 2009

Basking Ridge, NJ---Any Mommy is a “Lucky Mommy.” And the same goes if you are a “Lucky Grandma.” These are just two of the t-shirts in the “Building Families” collection, which consists of adorable tees for adoptive families from A Simple Daisy, LLC, (www.asimpledaisy.com). November is recognized as National Adoption Awareness Month. A Simple Daisy has 100% cotton t-shirts in sizes for men, women, and children which are fun to wear.

Gaining inspiration from her daughter Lucia who is Chinese, Tracy Redling started a t-shirt line specifically for families with adopted children from China. The “Building Families” category consists of bright red tees declaring “Worth the Wait,” “We’ll Be there Soon....To Bring You Home,” “Lucky Mommy,” “Lucky Grandma” and then tees for the whole family spelling out mother, father, sister, brother, grandma and grandpa in Chinese symbols. The whimsical graphics are eye-catching and colorful.

Specializing in high-quality cotton and organic cotton tees, A Simple Daisy currently offers seven different categories of shirts ranging from a patriotic peace sign in the American Dreams category to a pink ribbon in the Find A Cure Now line to those who love theatre, families who have adopted children from China, collect fountain pens, and want to “think green and plant a daisy” which comes on an organic tee.

“There is really no rhyme or reason to my different categories of t-shirts. They consist of things that I am simply passionate about. I am particularly excited about tying the various charities into our t-shirt lines. Currently, we have aligned ourselves with the Wounded Warrior Project, Susan G Komen for the Cure®/North Jersey, Broadway Cares/Equity Fights Aids, and Great Wall of China Adoption's Hope Trip Camp," states Redling.

Actively working to have as many organic and environmentally friendly products as possible, the folks at A Simple Daisy will guide and assist businesses in their "green" efforts. They can also assist with fundraising opportunities for schools, charities, and other organizations.
